DETAILED ACTION

1. An "Amendment" was received on April 26, 2004, in response to Office Action of March 17, 2004. Claim 1 has been canceled, new claims 2-41 have been added and the specification has been amended, as indicated.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Independent claims 2, 31, 32 and 36 and dependent claims 3-30, 33-35 and 37-41 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over independent claims 1-17 of the U.S. Patent No: 6,667,484. Although the claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other and carry the same meaning.

4. The subject matter claimed in the instant application is disclosed in the U.S. patent cited above and both claim common subject matter: A radiation source includes an anode and a cathode for creating a discharge in a vapor in a space between anode and cathode and to form a plasma of a working vapor so as to generate electromagnetic radiation. The cathode defines a hollow cavity in communication with the discharge region through an aperture that has a substantially annular configuration around a central axis of said radiation source so as to initiate said discharge. A driver vapor is supplied to the cathode cavity and the working vapor is supplied in a region around the central axis in between anode and cathode. It is to be noted that even the Abstracts of the current application and the patent cited are identical. Furthermore:

- a) Claims 2-30 carry the same meaning as claims 1-16 of the Patent.
- b) Independent claim 31 of the application carries the same meaning as claim 17 of the Patent.
- c) Claims 32-35 carry the same meaning as described in the Patent (col. 9, lines 45-50 and 80 in Fig. 3), and
- d) Claims 36-41 carry the same meaning as in the claims 1, 8-9 and 15-16 of the Patent.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
